

REMARKS

In view of the above amendments and following remarks, entry of the above amendments is respectfully requested.

The above amendments have been made to make the dependent claims consistent with the language that is now employed in the independent claims. It is noted that in the independent claims, the expression “phase inversion stabilizer” was added, through the Examiner’s Amendment, and changed from the prior expression of the dependent claims, which was “phase inversion device.” Thus, the above amendment is simply for the sake of consistency.

In view of the above it is respectfully submitted that the amendments are minor in character and are appropriate for entry at this point in the prosecution. Accordingly, such entry is respectfully requested.

Respectfully submitted,

Per GRAMME et al.
